

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

An electrical machine (20) includes a stator core (54) having slots (80) and a set of windings (58) disposed within the slots (80). The windings (58) are configured in  $2N+1$  phases, where  $N$  is greater than 1. Such a machine is particularly useful for automotive alternators.